Seeds for the Future

The future is ahead of us,

but right now we are just a seed.

Everyday we are growing a little more.

Every time we blink, we see

new things

But right now, we are just a seed.

We will blossom & bloom, every time we try something new.

We make choices and do things without having a clue, of what the outcome will be and what we may see.

But right now, we are just a seed.

A seed that is beautiful, even if it's not grown, but deep down we all know, that the seed you are today, decides the plant you will be tomorrow.

But right now, we are just a
seed.
