

How does the city view their role and interest in the project?

- Does the city view itself as an interested customer that would like to rent from county?
- Does the city view itself as a partner/and wish to become an equity partner?
- Is the city involved only to keep informed?
- Does the city plan to continue partnering with the county or will they move inmates elsewhere in the future?
- Does the city want this project to meet their future needs?
- Does the city want a committed number of beds?
- Is the city looking to only preserve their current level of beds or does it want to expand their capacity?
- If more beds were available, would the city's budget be able to accommodate the increase?
- Is the city's current use based on availability or affordability?
