Re: Support for Adoption of New Local Rule 34 and Revisions to Local Rule 30

Dear Superior Court Administrator,

On behalf of GLP Attorneys, I submit this comment in support of the proposed adoption of Local Rule 34 and revisions to Local rule 30 concerning civil fee waivers in Skagit County Superior Court.

Our firm represents clients across Skagit County; we regularly engage with court processes that affect access to filing and case progression. While our practice spans a range of civil matters, we share a strong interest in ensuring that local court procedures are not only efficient, predictable, and expeditious, but in addition accessible to all litigants.

From a practitioner standpoint, the current fee waiver process introduces avoidable inefficiencies into the system. The current process of separately presenting fee waiver applications, navigating limited ex parte availability, and the delay of filing underlying pleadings can slow case initiation and create unnecessary administrative burdens for both counsel and court staff.

The proposed rule changes would address these concerns in a practical way. In particular:

- Allowing Fee waivers and underlying pleadings to be filed together would streamline case initiation;
- Permitting electronic filing would modernize the process and reduce reliance on in-person appearances;
- Eliminating unnecessary presentation requirements would improve efficiency or litigants, attorneys, and the Court.

These updates would not only improve access for low-income litigants but also enhance overall court operations by reducing congestion in ex part calendars and minimizing duplicative procedural steps.

From our perspective, aligning local practice with statewide standards under GR 34 is a reasonable and necessary step. Clear, consistent procedures benefit all participants in the legal system and support timely resolution of civil matters.
